AMENDMENTS ARE PROPOSED

Battle Over Reduction Of

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The house today rejected an amendment to the Collier beer bill reducing the permitted alcoholic percentage from 3.2 to 2.75 per cent. The vote was 75 for to 124 against.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The House battle over the 3.2 per cent beer bill reached the critical stage today with both friends and foes of the measure predicting a close vote on final passage.

A barrage of amendments was to be thrown at the measure. Radical changes in the bill as framed by the Ways and Means committee were predicted.

Having exhausted its six hours of general debate, the House was to consider the measure for amendment with debate limited to five-minute speeches.

Plan Amendments
Leaders hoped to keep the House in session until the bill's fate is decided, but the time of final vote is problematical.

The first major amendment was to be a reduction of the permitted alcohol percentage of beer from 3.2 to 2.75 per cent, adoption of the amendment appeared likely if the drys joined with the "moist" members to change the bill. Some drys wanted to retain the 3.2 per cent in the belief they could command more opposing votes on final passage.

Rep. Vinson (D) of Kentucky, who led the fight for 2.75 per cent
beer in the Ways and Means committee, was to be one of the leaders in this drive to modify the bill.

Other important amendments included:
Prohibition of the saloon, granting of permits for sale of liquor

Arrest Is Imminent In Hillsville Hold-Up

Arrests are possible within the next twenty four hours in the hold-up of Fr. N. Pirulli, pastor of St.
Lawrence church of Hillsville on last Sunday night. Pictures of a great number of yeggs with police records have been shown to Fr. Pi-rulli and one of them it is believed has been identified. The city in which the man is located is known and officers expect to take him into custody soon.

The hold-up of Fr. Pirulli was one of the boldest crimes in recent years. On Sunday night about 8:30 o'clock two men rang the door bell of the parish house and the housekeeper answered. They asked for Fr. Pirulli and the housekeeper invited them into the office. As Fr.
Pirulli stepped in they flashed guns and forcing him to stick up his hands, took fifty dollars from him.
Then they made the housekeeper
bring the collection envelopes of St.
Lawrence church and the Bessemer church, both of which Fr. Pirulli is pastor. Cutting the telephone wires they escaped into Ohio.

Since the commission of the crime County Detective Lee has been working on the case unceasingly and believes he has one of the crooks identified.

Body Of Boy Is Found In River Near Oil City

Search Renewed For Young
Companion, Also Missing
Since Sunday

(International News Service)
OIL CITY, Pa., Dec. 21.—Recovery of the body of Robert Cunningham, 10, under an ice flow in mid-stream of the Allegheny river today had cleared up the mystery surrounding his disappearance Sunday with Arden Golden, seven-year-old companion.

After pulling Cunningham's lifeless form from the frigid waters, rescue workers renewed their efforts to locate Golden, who is believed to have met a similar fate.
A hatchet, found near a hole in the ice, led to the recovery of the body with grappling hooks.

Lions Are Hosts To Forty Blind Tuesday Night

Annual Holiday Party For Blind At Epworth
M. E. Church

PROGRAM GIVEN AFTER BANQUET

Gifts Are Presented To All Of Guests Of Evening
By Lions

Even though they dined and celebrated in the midst of darkness—and to most of them it was utter darkness—there was a certain undescribable joy that radiated among the 40 blind guests who came from their fireplaces to last night's annual Christmas party of the Lions Club in the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church on East Washington street.
With the blind were almost a hundred of their best friends, the Lions members and their wives, the Ladies of the Lions. Annually the party is staged as the Lions' "big Christmas gift" to the sightless.

Dinner Opens Program
A delicious dinner, served by a competent corps of Epworth young ladies, came as the evening opened last night, following the singing of "America" and the invocation by the Rev. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of the Highland U. P. church. A popular orchestra played while dinner was in progress.

The after-dinner hours brought the same program procedure as in other years, with speaking and music interspersing, and with the eagerly awaited distribution of Christmas gifts as the final number on the program.

Throughout the evening Lion W.
O. "Red" Williams, the club's popular song leader, presided as chairman. At times President George L.
Smith would speak but the chief pilot for the gala festivities was Williams.

For the principal speakers the evening brought two fellow Lions, both ministers, Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, who joshed the biographies of the Lions members, and Rev. Ferguson, whose message was also one that generated cheer.

After the clergymen spoke, president Smith introduced the Lions

Is Taken To Jail

After being the guest of the coun-tal for several weeks, John Ogrino has changed his residence to the Lawrence County Jail. He is charged with robbery rising out of an attempted theft at the farm of Ralph Allison on the Youngstown road some seven weeks ago.

With a couple of other prowlers, Ogrino visited the Allison farm late one night. Hearing them around the chicken coop Mr. Allison rose and taking his revolver with him did some fancy shooting at Ogrino, hitting him in the leg, wounding him badly.

Armstrong County Hunter Is Missing

Woods To Hunt

(International News Service)
INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 21.—Deep snow today caused temporary abandoning of the eight-day search for Harry Nary, 30, missing Armstrong county hunter.

Nary became separated from a group of hunters and has not been heard from since. Friends believe he met with an accident or became lost and froze to death during the recent bitter cold spell.

Posses of searchers back-tracked through the woods where Nary was hunting, following his trail, but without success.

Roosevelt Will Not Aid Project

Refuses To Join Plan Suggested By Hoover On War Debts

NO STATEMENT ON ATTITUDE HOWEVER

(International News Service).
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—President Hoover's plan for immediate revision of European debts, through the medium of a bi-partisan commission jointly selected by himself and President-elect Roosevelt, was more or less stranded on the shoals of failure today.

Gov. Roosevelt has informed Mr.
Hoover he does not consider the plan practicable or desirable, although professing sympathy with the broad general purpose behind the President's proposal. Neither does the President-elect subscribe to the Hoover theory of tying up debts specifically with the forthcoming world economic conference and the disarmament conference at Geneva.

Both the White House and the executive mansion in Albany have maintained strict silence concerning the exchanges between Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt, but enough has leaked out concerning them to establish the basic facts of the situation.

Reach 100th Anniversary
Thursday

Citizens of New Wilmington will mark the 100th anniversary of Dr.
James Smith Barr of New Wilmington on Thursday, December 22. A special service has been arranged for by Rev. J. E. Neale, to be held at the Barr home on Neshannock avenue and all day long friends of the Barr family will be dropping in to pay their respects.

Dr. Barr is the oldest living graduate of Washington & Jefferson college, graduating from old Jefferson college in 1858. For 44 years he was a missionary in the Punjab, India, returning to this country in 1907.
Despite his advanced years his intellect is clear and he does considerable reading.

Supervisors Will Meet December 30

Auditors Of County Also To Gather In Court House
—Eliminate Expense

Supervisors and auditors of the 17 townships of the county, comprising the Lawrence County Supervisors and Auditors association, will hold their annual meeting Friday, December 30, in the Lawrence county court house, the meeting being called to order at 10 o'clock in the morning.

This meeting is authorized by law,
and under the law the supervisors and auditors get paid for attendance at it. Some time ago they met and decided that this year they would hold their annual meeting but in the interests of economy would not accept any pay for their attendance.

of the Jacksonville, Fla., office and Miss Murrell was his secretary. The slain girl was well-known as an expert swimmer and member of the

COUNCIL CONTINUES TO REDUCE 1933 BUDGET; HOPES TO CUT MILLAGE

Appropriations Are Being Slashed—Ten Per Cent
Salary Cuts

Councilmen Discuss Matter
Of Cutting Down Police
And Fire Departments

TENTATIVE BUDGET
Public Affairs	$81,373.76
Accts. & Finance	26,770.00
Fire Bureau	69,493.02
Health Bureau	35,875.40
Electric Bureau	82,650.00
Streets, Imprts.	35,320.00
Engineers Bureau	14,215.00
Parks, Buildings	34,248.00
Water	10,000.00
Miscellaneous	12,400.00
Motor Shop	3,800.00

Council wrestled again Tuesday afternoon with the 1933 city appropriations and when they had laid their pencils away all had dull points but orders were given that they be sharpened before solons re-convened to make further cuts.

On the face of the appropriations fixed tentatively the city's operating expenses will be far less than they were in 1932 when $459,946 was appropriated for general revenue. So far the 1933 appropriations total $406,143.18.

And while on the face of the 1933 appropriations the statistics show $406,143.18, the amount actually will be less as a majority of the officials will return 10 percent of their 1933
salaries to the general revenue fund, but appropriations for the full amount must be fixed in the budget.

It was decided yesterday to make a 10 percent wage cut of most of the city employees. Salaried employees who did not receive in excess of $100, a month were not given a reduction.

Discuss Police Force
When council convened Director of parks and grounds inquired of Mayor Mayne if it were possible for him to reduce the size of the police force.

"I don't know but I can do it if the people believe they would have enough protection" he replied.
He added that there were numerous complaints of burglaries during the last part of a former administration and 10 special police were employed.

Genkinger called to the mayor's attention that soon there will be a detachment of Pennsylvania State police here and said there are three automobiles now in operation in the police department.

The mayor replied that the present quota is 45 which includes Police Matron McKibben and legal department Inspector Dysart.
He explained how a reduction would result in placing the police,

Youth Is Killed In Felling Tree

Butler County Farm Laborer
Crushed Under Tree
This Morning

YOUTH IS KILLED IN FELLING TREE

Andrew Shegan, aged 19 years, who has been employed on the Oran Pizer farm in Worth township, Butler county was fatally injured at 10:40 this morning, when he was caught underneath a tree he was helping Mr. Pizer fell, being badly crushed about the head and chest.

The youth, who formerly resided in Toledo, O., had been working for Mr. Pizer since last April and had made his home at the Pizer farm. He also has relatives in Shamokin, Pa., it was stated.

The accident happened when the tree which they were felling swayed in the direction opposite from which they had expected it to fall, catching the youth between the trunk and stump.
He died shortly after the accident happened.

We've dug the decorations out, the folks that pass the place will see the Christmas spirit, nights. We've got a wreath to grace the door, some holly and I know before we're through, there'll have to be a bit of mistletoe. Not that we need the mistletoe for what its use is for,

the need for that is long since past, though needed, much before. We're almost ready for the day, some odds and then we're done, all ready for the whiskered saint, the weather's jolly one.

PA NEW C OBSERVES

Causing no little attention was the one horse sleigh which was driven over Moravia street late Tuesday afternoon. The two passengers seemed to be enjoying the ride.

The electric fixtures are in place on the east side community tree at the intersection of East Washington street and Butler avenue, Pa. New notices. It is a pretty tree, was planted there a year ago by the city, after the east side residents had faithfully set up a tree there year by year in the past.

This is a true story. A local man got tired wearing a certain necktie and so got rid of it in the good old fashioned way of tossing it into the wastebasket of his office. Next day he came from home and discovered he had forgotten to wear a tie. To the surprise of this office staff he fished into the wastebasket and pulled out the needed article of apparel.

BURNS BATTLES RETURN TO GEORGIA

Burns Fighting Extradition To Georgia Prison

Governor Moore Of New Jersey Holds Fate Of Famous Fugitive

HEARING TODAY AT TRENTON, N. J.

Should Extradition Be Refused, Burns Will Be Safe In New Jersey

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 21.—Robert Elliott Burns, fugitive from a Georgia chain gang, today prepared for a supreme effort to stave off his return to a Georgia prison camp.

Before Gov. A. Harry Moore in the executive chamber here at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Burns, his attorneys and members of his family will seek to persuade the governor to refuse extradition to Georgia, where Burns is wanted to serve 4 years, 6 months and 24 days of a sentence imposed for a $4.80 holdup in Atlanta.

On the eve of his hearing, New York authorities abandoned plans to ask extradition of the widely-publicized fugitive to that state on a ten-year old forgery charge, because of the death of the principal witness in the case.

Quick Decision.
Governor Moore's decision will be known quickly after the hearing, he promised.

The proceedings will be speedy. And probably within two hours after the open hearing starts, Burns will know whether he may remain in New Jersey or must return to the life he graphically described in his book, "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang."

Grim, "medieval vengeance" is the motive behind the request for Burns' extradition, the fugitive and his attorneys will plead.

Burns will be given opportunity to present his side of the case, Governor Moore said. The fugitive, under $25,000 bail, will be brought from the Essex county jail to Newark to plead for his freedom.

Naming how many would be on duty each eight hours.

Cut Fire Departments?
The mayor said that if he could cut down on the police he would eliminate three fire departments.

He charged that the three do not answer 25 calls a year.

"Who's going to be the judge of this?" asked Director of Safety Davies.

The mayor said that Ray street, Croton and the Smithfield street departments mostly respond to alarms outside the city.

It was decided to make a 10 percent salary cut and Director of Parks Genkinger agreed to allow only $100 to remain in the golf course improvement fund.

Controller Greer induced Genkinger to do this as he informed Genkinger there would be a cash sum of $2,000, carried over from 1933 from 1932.

The council "hopped back" to the salary reduction and it was decided no 10 percent slash would be made on salaries persons receiving less than $100 a month except in isolated cases.

It developed however, that the street labor wage was reduced to about 36 cents an hour and sewage disposal plant labor also was cut down.

The garbage collection employees were not cut as they are being "floated" and Director Davies it was the sort of a job few men would do.

The janitor's assistant at city hall who drew $1,080, last year was one of the less than $100, a month men cut. His salary was fixed at $972.

The council did not devote any serious attention to the electric bureau which contains the appropriation for street lights and lighting city buildings.

To Ask Lighting Cut
However, they indicated they were saving this bureau for last consideration. They have indicated they will ask the local power for a substantial cut.

The city has not had money, according to council, to pay the company for light for a month or more. Recently the Power company's general manager offered to arrange a reduction of about $3,000, but council has indicated they want a larger cut.
It is probable council may go into session again today. They have indicated a willingness to set a budget which will result in a decrease in tax millage.
The tax levy for 1932 is 11 mills of which 8 1/2 mills in devoted to general revenue. They want to decrease the millage at least a mill.

EXPECT CLOSE VOTE ON BEER BILL IN HOUSE

with a provision that the permit be revoked if hard liquor is sold with it, by vinson.

Issuance of licenses instead of permits to brewers, legislative declaration that the beer is non-intoxicating, prohibition of important ingredients of beer and increase in tax from $5.00 to $7.50 by O'Connor (D) of New York.

Restrictions upon the measure becoming effective pending legislative action providing methods of sale, by placing responsibility upon governor or legislature, by Laguardia (E) of New York.

Abolition of restrictions upon shipment of beer into dry states on the ground it is non-intoxicating, by Schafer (R) of Wisconsin.

Removal of maximum year's imprisonment for second offense of importation of a bottle of beer into dry state, by Clancy (R) of Michigan.

First Test Vote
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The 32 per cent beer bill triumphed in the House on the first big test vote today, 163 to 118.

The vote was on the motion of Rep. Sirovich (D) of New York, to strike out the enacting clause—a motion which the dries would not let him withdraw after he made it merely to get the right to make a five minute speech.

The militant dries were quick to take advantage of the action of Sirovich, who wanted to answer ridicule of his statement as a physician and scientist that beer and milk have the same nutritional qualities.

night, but no extensive damage was reported.

The Boulder dam construction at Boulder City, near here, escaped unharmed in the quake which rocked the Las Vegas area for three seconds starting at 10:12 p. m.

Slight damage was confined to Christmas merchandise which toppled from shelves in Las Vegas stores.

At Reno, the divorce capital, the quake, felt at 10:08 p. m. cracked plaster in several homes and broke the glass in greenhouses. Several outlying towns were plunged into darkness because of power failure.

A second and lighter tremor was recorded at 11:42 p. m.

Utah Feels Quake.
Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 21.—Reports reached Salt Lake City early today that the earthquake which rocked office buildings and stopped clocks here at 11:13 o'clock last night had been felt as far east as Rawlins, Wyo. A checkup here showed no damage was done by the quake.

The tremors continued for almost one minute, shaking pictures and chandeliers to the floor on higher stories of office buildings.

TRANSFER MAN FROM HOSPITAL TO COUNTY JAIL

and it was necessary to send him to the hospital. Three guards, H. P. "Doc" McBride, Joe Heany and Lew Reebie have been guarding him night and day ever since and for all the hospital expenses and the guards' salaries the county of Lawrence will pay. The bill will run into hundreds of dollars.

Ogrobny will be tried in March for robbery and unless he can get bail will spend his time until then in the county jail.

STREET NAMELESS FOR 46 YEARS

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Alert city officials here have discovered a street that has survived 46 years without a name.
The street is two blocks long, 41 feet wide and was laid out in 1886 when the southeast portion of the city was platted. Although that portion of the city is fairly thickly settled, no houses ever have been built on this particular street, which city fathers believe accounts for the fact no name ever has been given it. The omission will be remedied promptly.

Thieves Get Hams At Cudahy Plant

As the officer on the beat was making his rounds about 1:40 o'clock this morning he discovered the fact that the Cudahy Packing Company plant on South Mill street had been entered.

The manager of the plant was notified and when he arrived it was found that entrance had been gained through a window on the north side of the building, along which the loading platform runs. The wire screen had been pried loose and then one of the thieves had reached in and raised the window.

Investigation by the manager revealed the fact that five uncured hams and some sausage had been stolen.

With the program concluded, president Smith presented Mrs. E. D. Marvin, president of the ladies' auxiliary, who promptly presented Mrs. Earl Ramsey, chairman of the blind work of the auxiliary. Mrs. Ramsey in turn introduced Mrs. B. K. Thacker and Mrs. W. C. Mechem, her able committee aides.

Ladies Give Presents
Briefly, Mrs. Ramsey recounted the joy that the Lions and their ladies experience in the annual parties and then announced that a Christmas gift for everyone had been purchased. The auxiliary financed the purchases.

Mrs. Ramsey, directing a group of Lions, distributed the holiday packages to the blind after the entire throng united in the singing of "God Be With You Till Me Meet Again."

Each Lion and his wife formed an escort for at least one blind person to the church and home again.

Students Perform As Kiwanians Hold Christmas Program

Senior High Group Entertains Club At Luncheon; Club Treat Ready

A talented quartet of Senior high school girls and one of the school's most able violinists helped the local Kiwanis club to celebrate its annual Christmas program in The Castleton Wednesday.

Miss Gladys Rich, supervisors of music for the city's public schools, who accompanied the group, announced the different numbers.

Members of the girls' quartet were Marion and Ruth Wilkison, Mary Virginia Roberts and Cecelia Hasulak, with Jean Haug as their piano accompanist. Their Christmas numbers included "As Joseph Was A-Walking"; "Bring A Torch, Jeanette"; and two a capella numbers, appropriate selections played without an accompanist.

The violinist, Salvatore Cresci, played the difficult second movement of the Mendelssohn concerto. After the students' numbers, the Kiwanians joined in with their guests and sang two Christmas carols, with Samuel Lewis directing. Harry Hammond, Kiwanis pianist, accompanied.

Christmas day will not pass without the Kiwanians remembering children of two institutions here, the Margaret L. Henry home on Friendship street and the Crawford-Oakridge home on Atlantic avenue. Treats have been made possible for them at special programs next week.

"I'm an insurance salesman," replied Philippi, "and by the way, Sergeant, are you sure you have enough liability insurance on your car? Now my company offers..."

Half an hour later Philippi had a $15 traffic ticket and the policeman a $1,000 insurance policy. "I guess I'll break even on the deal," said Philippi.

Honored By Central Church On Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. JOHN M. BRIGHT

At the dining room of the Central Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, fitting tribute was extended to John M. Bright, a long time leader in the work of the congregation, by the members of the various boards and their wives. The occasion was the 90th birthday anniversary of Mr. Bright, which occurs today.

Mr. Bright has been a member of the session of the Central Presbyterian congregation for many years, and featuring the program carried out on the occasion were letters from the four former pastors of the congregation who are still living and with whom Mr. Bright was closely associated during their ministry here.

In addition to marking the 90th anniversary of Mr. Bright's birthdate, he and Mrs. Bright are also nearing the 60th anniversary of their wedding, and this was also recognized in the program of the evening. Charles Bright and Miss Blanche Bright, members of the family, who are also members of the Central Presbyterian church, occupied the places of honor last night, along with their parents. During the evening, Fred Bright of Oil City, another member of the family, arrived unexpectedly, and shared in the program.

Dr. Charles B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central church, presided in the role of master of ceremonies, when the dinner had been served. After paying tribute to the fine church record of Mr. Bright, and his worth as a man, he expressed the appreciation of the entire congregation to the honor guest for his long service.

A beautiful bouquet of golden chrysanthemums which graced the table, was mentioned as having been sent as an appreciation by Mrs. Edward King.

As the dinner was being served, William McCombs of the church choir sang a number of appropriate selections, in his usual fine voice. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ben Jenkins.

The invocation was delivered by William M. White of the church session, a long time associate of Mr. Bright in the congregation.

George Lyon, chairman of the Central congregation for a period of years, spoke as representative of the congregation; Mrs. George W.

The Yuletide spirit permeated the Highland United Presbyterian church Tuesday evening as the members of the Baldwin Bible class assembled for the annual Christmas party.

The members met in the dining room of the church where routine matters were discussed, with Mrs. F. L. Burton in the chair. As the business session concluded the women were invited to the class room where a one act play "The Beauty Specialist" was cleverly presented, sending the women into convulsions of laughter as the various processes of being "beautified" were demonstrated. Mrs. Adarene Harris was most dignified in the role of Madame Princeton, the owner of the shop; Mrs. Cynthia Cline was most capable as Susan, the operator; Mrs. Compton, who kept the audience in uproar with her exercises, was well taken by Mrs. Amanda Halley; Miss Terwilliger, who was being "skinned" was humorously portrayed by Mrs. Mayme Streib; Miss Dickie Bird, who was being "bleached" was so nervous for fear her name would get in the paper, was Mrs. Mabel Fisher, and Miss McFadden, who was a "snapping reporter" was portrayed by Mrs. Josephine Kison. The play was directed by Mrs. Fred Brown.

After the curtains were drawn the class members were invited to the dining room where long tables, attractive in Yuletide colors, were laid and after a Christmas lunch had been served by Mrs. Daniel Maddocks, Mrs. George Miles, Mrs. A. R. Batten, Mrs. O. A. Rodgers and Mrs. Bertha Smith; Santa Claus, round and ruddy, came in with two large packs on his back and each woman received a "white elephant" gift and much laughter was caused as each displayed what she had received. The Santa Claus was taken by Mrs. Daniel Maddocks.

"NOT HIS BABY—"

THERE is a phase of the statement reported to have been made by Governor Roosevelt that the war debt problem is not his baby that ought not to go unchallenged, asserts the Manchester Union. All the discussion of this question, and particularly of President Hoover's efforts to meet the crisis that it has occasioned, seems to proceed on the assumption that the present administration is responsible for the war debt tangle as it exists today.

But it is only fair to ask, who created the war debts? Has it been forgotten that this problem was created by a Democratic administration, and that it was handed along to the Republican leaders in 1920, when they came into control of the government?

If the war debt problem is not Governor Roosevelt's baby personally, it is most decidedly the offspring of the party that he now has the honor to represent. Nothing is to be gained now by starting a discussion of the origin of these obligations. There are many who believe, however, that the present volume of debt might have been far smaller if the Wilson administration had not yielded so easily to the arts of foreign persuasion, and opened the doors of the United States Treasury wide to foreign demands. If this financial assistance seemed necessary to save Germany's opponents from defeat, at least some consideration might have been given to the possibility of repayment before continuing loans to these nations after the armistice.

Nothing is to be gained by discussing that which has been done, and which cannot be changed. But there is some ill grace in the titular leader of the Democratic party disowning responsibility for the offspring of his own party at a time when his co-operation is asked in meeting the crisis that has arisen therefrom.

THOSE MOST BEAUTIFUL WORDS!

A certain period each summer is set aside as the silly season when sea serpents are to be expected, and all sorts of nonsense is given and taken, but even though this is December, we are having some silly things said and done, says the Danbury Evening News, and continues:

Why in the world is it necessary for anyone to make a list of the "ten most beautiful words?"

Of course the answer is that it wasn't at all necessary—which is probably why it was done.

Wilfred J. Funk, who combines the dreamy avocation of poet with the go-getting vocation of heading a publishing house, chose the words. "Whether in the capacity of an idealistic poet or practical publisher, however, is not stated.

Here are the words: Dawn, hush, lullaby, murmuring, tranquil, mist, luminous, chimes, golden, melody.

We think there is nothing to recommend any one word above another as more or less beautiful. When Mother tells Susie to hush Susie isn't captivated with hush. When you want to get somewhere in a hurry and a mist that you could cut with a knife forces you to drive at fifteen miles an hour you don't think much of mist.

Words are beautiful or ugly, not intrinsically, but because of what they connote. A beautiful girl can say almost anything to her swain, and all her words have a beautiful sound to him, even though her voice be as raucous as the crows'. And what more beautiful words in the world than "enclosed please find?" Or "Surest thing you know," when you have made a "touch" of a friend? And how about the sibilant "Yes," murmured by the one girl when he has asked her, "Will you be mine?"

"Here's a job." What about these for beautiful words? Some eleven million Americans would say they are the sweetest of all sounds in the English language.

SHORT-LIVED SLANG

Difficult will be the task of the scholar who a century or two hence attempts to interpret the slang of 1932. He will need more than a "Rosetti Stone."

One can imagine a professor in 2032 defining in learned and wrong-headed fashion a "dumb cluck" as a wise woman, because foolishness has been typified by girls that whistle and hens that crow. "Hit the hay" will mean to him an alternative form for "make hay while the sun shines." His interpretation for "all wet" will probably be something like this: Quietly dignified, having a reference to "Still waters run deep."

Posterity will have us all wrong, even as we moderns probably have a topsyturvy idea of what our illustrious ancestors thought, said and did. Their recorded sayings may have meant something far different from that which we think their meaning was.

How fortunate it is that slang seldom is perpetuated in enduring literature. A modern novel or history or poem in slang would otherwise be Greek to its own author within a decade. A new slang phrase is picturesque, amusing and vivid for a day and then must pass into oblivion to make room for the next day's invention.

EVEN IF IT IS CHRISTMAS—

Don't set up the tree so that it can topple over easily and don't place it near heating or lighting fixtures.

Don't use lighted candles on trees.

Don't use paper, cotton or celluloid ornaments. Incombustible trimmings may now be purchased.

Don't allow smoking near Christmas trees.

Don't permit paper to accumulate.

Don't be careless in the use of electrical equipment or in extending wiring.

Don't give small children dangerous toys—such as those requiring alcohol, kerosene or gasoline.

Don't permit use of nitrocellulose film in home motion picture machines. This is dangerous because it is extremely inflammable and, in burning, releases fumes causing death. Use only "safety" film, known as acetate film.

Don't neglect to keep handy something with which to put out the fire that does happen to start.

Don't keep the Christmas tree up after December 31st. It becomes dried out after a very few days in the house.

The foregoing are safety suggestions of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

ENJOY YOURSELF

"Sit down," says the old fellow, "and enjoy yourself. And when I says 'enjoy yourself,' I means it. After all, you knows yourself better than you knows anybody else. You knows your bad points and you knows your good points, what you hates and what you likes. You ain't going to be with yourself so very long and you might as well make the best of what you are."

"So you better be enjoying yourself while you can. That's what I always say to myself and I find it works. I been enjoying myself for close onto 75 years and while I ain't one of these egotists I have got a proper appreciation of my own abilities and my own good qualities. And I appreciate 'em, I do."

"That's why, even though I'm gettin' along toward the end, I ain't complainin', and I ain't afraid. I'm interested in myself, just as if I was some other person. I'm curious about life, just as much as I was when I was a kid of 16."

"And I'm enjoying myself immensely. You try it."

A friend of mine told me once that when he was a youngster in his teens he was terribly worried about himself. He was afraid he was PICKLE. One week he liked a little black haired girl with curls. The next week he was fond of a blonde, a Swedish friend. He never had one girl more than a month, and he was afraid that if he kept along the road he was traveling he'd break a lot of hearts.

After 20 years he suddenly realized that he hadn't jilted those girls. They had dropped him, but had done it so cleverly he didn't know it.

Emerson said there was a Law of Compensation at work in the world. What we lose in one direction we gain in another. The sensitive man suffers more, but he enjoys more. A man may lose his money but gain friends. He may lose health but increase his understanding. Nature makes amends.

Once I was impatient of the doctrine and would have nothing to do with it. Now I am not so certain. What do you think?

FRIENDSHIPS

Do you foolishly adhere to the position that there are certain people toward whom you cannot indicate friendship because they do not represent the strata of society you wish to impress?

There are certain persons whose company gives you more pleasure than the majority of those with whom you associate.

But you feel that you must check their advances and make them understand that you cannot accept them on a basis of friendship, because they do not "belong" to the group you represent or aspire to.

Aren't you too literal in your acceptance of the adage that you are "known by the company that you keep?"

Don't make a shoddy play to the galleries.

To select your friends solely for the position they hold, either socially or financially, is not worthy of you. Since you have deserted the crowd that sponsored you before you achieved success, how many real friends do you think you have made anywhere?

All things considered, you will find you have not made much headway toward real friendship in any crowd; and who are you anyway that others seek or accept you?

I rather fancy that he knew This last grim task for him we'd do.

That never again would he be well. And so that very afternoon We played, he knew he'd leave us soon.

Nation Sees Force In McKee Fight For New York Reform

His Denunciation Of Present Conditions, And Written Votes For Him On Ballots Interpreted As Evidence Of Coming Battle

Rumblings of reform in the administration of New York City are marked by voices of citizens from all parts of the country. Mayor McKee's words before a gathering of civic leaders, and the 135,000 voters who wrote in his name on their ballots in the recent election are accepted as evidence of his fitness to lead a contest with the rulers of the leading city of the country.

"The lead-pencil crusade" is the term applied to the revolt by the BOSTON TRANSCRIPT, as it recalls the large number of written ballots cast for Mayor McKee. "There were 78 different spellings," adds The Transcript, "but there was no doubt of the meaning of the writers." The Transcript adds: "So the crusade that began with the use of lead pencils behind the curtains of the voting machines has been given the support of the man whose name was spelled 78 ways, but of whose identity there was no doubt. He has allied himself with the force of Tammany. If they are to win it remains for the people of New York to carry on the crusade. But the crusading spirit is not easily maintained. If Mr. McKee can keep it alive and so extend it that there will in reality be a new day in the governmental affairs of the city, he will deserve to rank among its benefactors."

Observing that the acting Mayor "sees the day of better government for the city just ahead," the FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM declares: "The action of the voters may have a good effect. It may serve as a sort of warning to Tammany that will result in some improvement. But whether it will result in the widespread movement that Mr. McKee foresees, or an end of the wasteful government that has undoubtedly prevailed in New York City, none can tell. The public has the habit of becoming greatly dissatisfied with public conditions, voicing its dissatisfaction by sweeping out the administration in total, and then feeling that its full duty has been done. The result is a measure of improvement, but never the full measure that could and should be obtained."

"It is in 1933," says the ROANOKE TIMES, "that McKee, who will resume his former place as president of the board of aldermen when O'Brien becomes mayor, is expected to make his bid for the mayoralty with the assistance and backing of independent Democrats and possibly the Republican city organization as well. He has made an excellent impression during the brief period that he has been at the head of the city government and with the backing of the newspapers and non-Tammany Democrats he will probably make it hot for Tammany in next year's mayoralty campaign."

"War is in the air," remarks the NEW YORK SUN, "and that is the advantage of those who have been aroused by Mr. McKee's speech. The disadvantage is the element of time. If Mr. McKee had uttered his fighting talk before election and accepted an independent nomination for mayor it is quite possible that he would have won. Now those who admire either him or his sentiments have to face that fact that nearly a year must pass before the voters can act again. Let those who meet to prepare for 1933 remember that."

YOUTH AND THE NAVY

President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt may have ideas about scrapping the United States Navy and rendering useless the United States Army, but the younger generation is not strong for any such move.

A youngster of five, of my acquaintance, is constantly doing things a little differently from the ordinary boy of five. He also says things very much differently. He has ideas.

This young man has started to Sunday School, and it is a new world to him. He also is very much interested in battleships and destroyers and all things pertaining to the Navy. He has a toy Navy himself now.

Several Sundays ago when he was ready to leave for Sunday School, his mother found he was taking one of his toy battleships with him.

"What are you going to do with that?" asked his mother. "Take it to Sunday School," said the boy.

"Why, that is not a thing to take to Sunday School; better leave it at home," said the mother.

"Oh, yes, I must take it to Sunday School for they sang last Sunday, 'Oh, Come Let Us War-ship!'"

Shenango High School Class B Champs Are Honored Last Night

Place kicks were replaced by place cards and the gridiron by dinner plates Tuesday night when the Shenango township football team was tendered a banquet in the school gymnasium by the members of the Alumni Association. And while the team won the Class B championship of Lawrence county during the year, it made a bold try for Class A eating honors last night.

The banquet was more than ordinarily successful for this year it marked the winning of the Class B championship of Lawrence county, which as you might suppose is more than something. After battling away for four years the Shenango township lads finally landed right side up on the top of the heap and the dinner Tuesday night reflected the spirit that accompanies such a feat.

Johnston Toastmaster.

Glenn Johnston, supervising principal of the Shenango township schools was the toastmaster of the evening and at the beginning of the dinner asked George Lawrence, secretary of the Shenango Township school board to invoke a Divine blessing upon the meal.

The dinner itself was prepared and served by young ladies of the Alumni Association and was their first effort in such a direction. After the success of the first venture they have a high standard to maintain in future banquets. Interspersing the courses was pep singing directed by Mr. Johnston with Miss Cowmeadow at the piano.

There were no formal speakers but a number of guests were asked to make a few remarks and did. Among them were George Lawrence, secretary of the Shenango township school board; Jack Craig, captain of the 1932 football squad; Coach Ed Raney; Carl Hoover, a former star of the Shenango team; Coach Fredrick of the Bessemer football team; Bart Richard; and Clare B. Book, assistant county superintendent of schools, formerly supervising principal of Shenango township schools.

In behalf of the team Captain Craig presented Coach Ed Raney with a handsome desk fountain pen set, to which the coach responded. Mr. Book made the presentation of the Class B championship trophy, a silver football mounted on a pedestal.

Following the banquet, Clare B. Book showed motion pictures of the team in play against its various opponents during the season. About fifty were in attendance, thirty of them being the football squad and twenty guests.

Many Activities In Reserve Clubs

Girl Reserve Organizations Sponsor Many Seasonal Service Projects

Many are the Christmas activities being entered into by the Girl Reserve Clubs of the city this week.

The parties, started several days ago, are continuing strong.

Tonight the Union High School Reserves will have a party in the gymnasium at 7:30. They will have a light lunch, games, music, etc. Miss Margaret Tucker of the school faculty is adviser.

George Washington Girl Reserves are presenting a Christmas play this afternoon at the junior high school. Gretchen Smith did the coaching. The Washington girls will have their Christmas party on Friday after school in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium. They will have a special guest Santa Claus, who will distribute gifts.

Benjamin Franklin Club has carefully set plans for a party in the green room of the Y. Friday after school. Santa Claus will be there and will distribute gifts to the little guests of the club. Each girl will be responsible for bringing a young guest and a gift.

As for the Hobby Club of Franklin school, it has already had a very successful party, with needy youngsters as its guests, but is planning another service project for Friday afternoon. They will meet at the Y. W. C. A. at two p. m., then go to the New Castle hospital, where they will present six or more lovely scrapbooks to the children's ward.

The Hobby Club members made the scrapbooks, which are 15 inches square, during recent meetings. Miss Pearl Gibbons is in charge of the project.

Then another important event of Friday afternoon will be the party given the Sciota street girls by the senior high school Girl Reserve Club at Sciota street. There will be gifts, refreshments and everything to make it a perfect event. Betty Rice, service chairman; Eleanor Wolcott, assistant chairman, and Mary Long, service adviser, are in charge. The fun will begin at 2:30.

Thief Frightened From Gerson Home

Barking Of Dog Evidently Chased Thief Away Last Night

Mrs. Jack Gerson and her maid, heard someone in the first floor of the Gerson home, 224 Winter avenue, last night from their second floor apartments. Finally the person, who evidently was bent on robbery left on account of the activity of the Gerson dog.

Mrs. Gerson called a policeman at his nearby home. He arrived and investigated and found a man's footmarks. Indications were that the thief had entered the garage and then the house but had evidently been chased away by the Gerson dog. Nothing of value was missing from the home.

Applicants For Drivers' License Will Have To Answer More Questions

Taking an examination for an automobile driver's license in 1933 will require a little more study than it has in the past. A list of 44 questions will be sent to the applicant which he will be expected to memorize and when he presents himself for the examination, the state highway patrol officers in charge will ask him a number of the questions.

There will be no set number of questions asked, for the forty four have been divided into groups. Whatever group of questions being used that day will be the ones the applicant will have to answer correctly to get his license.

Same Inspection
For 1933 the same inspection of cars will be required as prevailed in 1932. The inspection period is during months of January, February and March. The enforcement period will be March, April and June. The inspection for the latter half of the year will be July, August and September with the enforcement months October, November and December.

The purpose of the semi-annual inspection of cars is to insure against faulty automobiles being on the highways. Since the inspection has been in vogue hundreds of unsafe cars have been ruled from the highways and faulty parts corrected before it was too late.

Bond Increased In Replevin Case

Defendants File Objections To Amount Offered And Hearing Is Held

Several days ago K. E. Fox, Myron S. Gelbach and Ray H. Anglesworth filed a writ in replevin at the prothonotary's office against John and Frank Biondi, and C. J. Clark bailiff, to secure possession of a moving picture outfit at Ellwood City. The value of the property was fixed at $300 and the bond $600.

The Biondis filed exceptions to the sufficiency of the bond, claiming that the property was worth $4,000, and that C. L. Bauder who had signed the bond, was not sufficient surety.

Judge James A. Chambers heard testimony on the exceptions, after which he fixed the value of the goods at $25,000 and the bond at $5,000.

News Reporter Gets Earful Of Demands Upon Santa Claus

There are interviews and interviews in a reporter's life but few as interesting as that at the Margaret L. Henry children's home yesterday afternoon.

Excitement is always rampant at the Henry home about this time of year. When the number of days before Christmas can be counted on one hand, well, the air just changes to ozone and the sound of the children's heart beats reminds one of the tom-toms of Timbuctu.

And so one of the scribes roamed up to the home yesterday just to get a preview on what awaits Santa Claus. He chatted awhile with Miss Margaret Henry, the beloved founder of the home, then was ushered into a little playroom where a group of youngsters were playing house.

The youngsters, all of whom were under school age, were perfect hosts and hostesses. They scurried all over each other to get a chair for their visitor. Then they sat around in a circle and waited for the interview.

And what peaches they were to question! Hardly had the querist "What do you want Santa to bring you?" been popped before it was answered.

Peggy Cummings explained that she wanted a baby doll very, very badly. She didn't know what she would name it until she saw what it looked like, she explained.

Her sister Dorothy said that a doll trunk was her heart's desire. What would she do with it? Why, play with it, of course!

Elvira DeLorenzo grinned rather sheepishly and said she would love a doll baby—and buggy, she added hopefully. She said that if Santa didn't have a buggy for her, however, she could put the baby very nicely on a kiddie car she had at her daddy's house.

Bobby Watkins wants a big ball and a football. With the football, he said, he could play with the "big kids". By the way he puffed out his chest when he said that, it indicated that that certainly was something.

Patsy Churchfield stated that a doll baby is what she wants. What she lacked in originality she made up in enthusiasm. She added that a big buggy would be nice for the doll.

Elvira held clutched in her hands a tiny china doll and seemed very affectionate toward it. When asked the doll's name she answered "Uncle Harry".

Several poems were then recited. Elvira and Peggy, the champion flippers of the home, turned a couple of their flip-flops for the visitor, and Peggy, Dorothy and Betty presented their original dance. Bobby gave a recitation and several others sang a Christmas song.

So this is our message to Santa Claus: "The youngsters at the Margaret L. Henry home have been very, very good, so don't forget them the night of the 24th."

CHECKER EXPERT TO PLAY AT "Y"

"Willie" Ryan, Famed Champ To Display Skill On December 31

Checker enthusiasts in the New Castle district will receive with delight the announcement that the Y. M. C. A. has arranged for a public exhibition to be given on Saturday evening, December 31, by "Willie" Ryan, New York, winner of countless tournaments and championships and probably the leading checker exhibition and match player in the world.

Ryan, Y officers announce, will play blindfolded, ten men at one time and at the conclusion of the games will call off in their respective order all the numbers dictated during the blindfolded games, a total of 3,000 or more numerals, thereby demonstrating to what extent he has developed his memory and trained his mind.

Special plans for handling a large crowd of spectators as Ryan plays in the lobby will be made. Y authorities said Ryan has been stopping in the Western Pennsylvania section for several days.

Alderman Brice Has First Case

Alderman James C. Brice is now a full fledged alderman. His first case was that against William and Wallace Janiel of 5 Balph avenue, charged with automobile theft.

After hearing the testimony Alderman Brice directed that William Janiel, a boy of 14 be given into the custody of Juvenile Officer Jack M. Dunlap and held Wallace Janiel for court. In default of bail he was sent to jail.

The indolence of the generality of the great, borders somewhat upon a lethargic state.

Bronchial Troubles Need Creomulsion

Bronchial troubles may lead to something serious. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germ.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up a system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking Creomulsion. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Fountain Inn Is Held By Trustee

Future Plans Are Considered Following Sale Of Property By Sheriff

In view of present conditions and prospects, the future of the Fountain Inn is being considered, following the sale of the property by Sheriff Frank N. Johnston to Attorney Wylie McCaslin, trustee for others interested. The owners, the Pennsylvania Hotel Company, was incorporated September 20th, 1912, and the hotel was established as a "no license" hotel.

The execution upon which it was sold was by A. R. Mornes.

The original incorporators of the Pennsylvania Hotel Company were Mr. S. Marquis, L. M. Buchanan, J. H. Miller, R. L. McNabb, A. W. Reynolds and G. G. Stitzinger, all of whom are now deceased with the exception of Buchanan. Later there a number of other stockholders.

The first board of directors, composed of seven, was M. S. Marquis, Attorney E. N. Baer, J. H. Miller, John H. Preston, L. M. Buchanan, R. L. McNabb and R. A. McKinney. Singularly enough all of these directors are dead with the exception of Buchanan.

The original capital stock, according to the charter, was $75,000 divided into 750 shares of the par value of $100 each.

EINTRACHT PLANS HOLIDAY PROGRAM

Singing Society Will Fete
Youngsters At Event On Christmas Eve

A gala Christmas eve awaits the New Castle Eintracht Singing Society next Saturday night. It was indicated today as plans for the society's annual children's Christmas treat were formulated. The event is limited to the membership.

Approximately 400 children of the Eintracht families, it was said, will share the special entertainment at the clubhouse on Taylor street, with the Eintracht singers and members of the Frohsinn ladies' choir contributing carol singing.

Children of the German classes which Eintracht sponsors weekly will give a Christmas program of their own in the German tongue. All numbers of the choruses will be sung in German.

Arrangements for the evening, including a bountiful candy and fruit treat for the youngsters, are in charge of a special committee which President George Hietch heads.

Prepare To Pour Concrete Curbs

City Engineer Frank Miller stated today that employees of the city today prepared to pour concrete curbs where the radius of street corners were increased in East Washington street between County Line and Ray streets.

There's not a whole lot of difference between being in the hole and in a rut.

Post Office Prepared For Thursday's Rush

Believing that New Castle's Christmas mailers will begin their last minute dash for the post office doors a few hours after dawn comes on Thursday, postal authorities this afternoon were ready to apply fresh oil to the smooth-functioning postal machinery in the event the anticipated rush comes.

An auxiliary staff of almost 30 men awaited an emergency call for duty, and Postmaster Lake S. MacNab announced that work was already being given to a small group of jobless men. Every extra is chosen from the eligible auxiliary list and is formally sworn into service before assuming his duties.

Up until this afternoon, when another turn toward a more voluminous business came, the departments at the post office have been proceeding at a normal pace, and while shipments have been steadily increasing the regular staff has handled them with dispatch.

Postmaster MacNab, in forecasting a rush for tomorrow, said that past years have shown that the final three days have brought the heaviest business.

Gift parcels and Christmas greeting cards, destined for points at some distance, began to pour into the office today as mailers took advantage of the final hours left for sending them. Far distant points will not receive their packages by Saturday evening if they are not in the mails today.

However, parcels bound for shorter trips will stream into the office tomorrow and Friday, although Saturday is not likely to witness such a rush. The half-day schedule on that day will make it impossible for delivery anywhere by the holiday.

To expedite outgoing parcel shipment, the postoffice had a corps busy today at a vacant North Mercer street storeroom, sorting and dispatching the out-of-town mail. Incoming mail was being transferred directly from trains and busses to the postoffice.

On the more important residential mail routes the letter mail was considerably heavier today, and if postmen find the task too great for them extras will be assigned to accompany them.

"Just tell them they'd better get their parcels here tomorrow," was the brief comment Postmaster MacNab had to make insofar as tomorrow's mailing is concerned.

Superintendent of Mails R. A. Steen and Foreman of Carriers Peter P. Stevenson had their forces well organized to serve the city mailers in the final period.

The postoffice did ask that greeting card senders be requested to place rubber bands about large bulks of cards in an effort to save time in the facing-up" table in the dispatch room. It was said that cards not bound bring confusion and an unwelcome delay when tossed into the drop chutes at the office.

Lobby table service was maintained today for the sale of stamps although with the increase in parcel mailing the tables will receive parcel post.

The postoffice, following instructions from Washington, will suspend all operations, save the regular holiday routine, over Sunday and Monday.

Charge Is Made Before Alderman

Overcoats Are Reported Stolen

Another Whitney Horse-Lover

Running true to his family traditions, young Harry Payne Whitney, 2nd, son of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, shows his appreciation for fine horsemanship, during his sojourn at a desert camp near Tucson, Ariz. "Visiting Judges" Practice Will Be Halted January 1

Judges Cannot Leave Own District Until All Cases Are Disposed Of (International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 21.—Common pleas court judges were prohibited from going "visiting" in courts of other counties until all cases on their own dockets are disposed of in a state supreme court order issued here today by Pier Dannels, court prothonotary.

The ruling, which is expected to curtail the "visiting" practices of judges, will become effective January 1.

A copy of the order and a certificate to be filled out by "visiting" judges was sent to the prothonotaries in all supreme court districts. It stated:

"This court is of the opinion that no judge can spare the time within the meaning of the statute of (1911) unless he first completes the undisposed work ready for disposition in his own district.

"Accordingly, from and after Jan.

1, 1933, you may not assign for duty pursuant to this statute any judge who does not file with you a certificate."

CHANGE IS DUE TO FINANCIAL SITUATION

Resignation of Miss Emma B. Moore, executive secretary of the International Institute and Friendly Service department of the Y. W. C. A., was accepted with regret by the board of the Young Women's Christian Association at a regular monthly meeting last night.

Miss Moore has served the New Castle Y. W. C. A. more than seven years, having taken charge of the institute work when it was in its infancy here. Only on account of the present financial conditions has the association been willing to accept the resignation.

Before coming to New Castle Miss Moore had served 10 years as general secretary of the Harrisburg Y. W. C. A. and 15 years as general secretary of the Fort Wayne association.

The American as well as the foreign-born women and girls of this city who have found in Miss Moore a wise councillor will not find it easy to lose her friendly advice and the occasional jobs with which she has been able to help them tide over the unemployment situation. Miss Josephine Strozynska will take over as much of the unemployment work as possible with her own work. Miss Moore's resignation becomes effective January 15. She has made no plans for future Y. W. C. A. work at present and will be at home with her sister on Park avenue.

Dismantle Old Curb Lighting Transformers

Will Use Room Formerly Oc-
graphic Purposes

A small room on the second floor of the police patrol barn, which has been used for many years by the city for the transformers used in the curb lighting system, when the city operated it, is being dismantled and will now be fitted up for use as a photographic dark room by W. G. McMullen, city police department fingerprint expert.

The transformers which were sold to a local junk dealer were full of oil and this oil was salvaged and will be used for such purposes as the city has need of it in the future. As soon as the room is fitted up, Officer McMullen plans to finish all photographic work of his department.

"Human speech makes machine run," says a headline. At last they've found the kind of machine Russia needs.

FLYER'S WIFE HOPEFUL

MRS. GERTRUDE REDFERN

Hopes for the return of her aviator husband, Paul Redfern, have been rekindled for Mrs. Gertrude Redfern of Pittsburgh, with the report that Redfern has been held captive by South American savages who revere him as their king. Redfern disappeared on a non-stop flight to Brazil five years ago.

New Trial Refused In Larceny Cases

Judge Chambers Hands Down
Opinions In John Cook
And Alex. Donnan
Cases

John Cook was refused a new trial in an opinion handed down at court this morning by Judge James A. Chambers. Cook was convicted of larceny in connection with the slaughtering of a heifer belonging to W. P. Wilson of Pulaski township. The heifer, which was in a pasture near the Wilson home, was killed in the field and the fore-quarters taken.

Constable Robert McClenahan and other officers who were called in the case found meat believed to have been from the heifer, in the Cook home. Others who were implicated in the case entered pleas, but Cook stood trial, maintaining his innocence.

Judge Chambers also refused a new trial to Alex. Donnan, who was convicted of larceny. Donnan ran a printing shop in a property owned by Caroline Wallace and Lillian Westlake. Oliver J. Shannon, agent, rented the property to Donnan, and when he got back in the rent the outfit was sold by Constable Rolla Morrow on a landlord's warrant. It was afterwards transferred to Mrs. Donnan as a bailment. Less than a year ago, Donnan was alleged to have sold the property and to have converted a part of the proceeds to his own use. When arrested for larceny he attacked the legality of the sale on the landlord's warrant.

County Schools Start Closing

Christmas Holiday Vacations Will Vary In Schools In Rural Districts

Rural schools in Lawrence County started closing today for the Christmas holiday period, no uniform closing date being observed, and the schools will also resume their sessions on different days.

A majority of the larger schools are closing today and will reopen on January 2, included among the group being the Union Township schools. Shenango Township schools will not close until Friday.

Many of the smaller schools will resume their sessions on next Tuesday, only a one-day holiday being observed so that they can close their terms at an early date in the spring.

"Perfect Girl"

After one glance at this picture, we're all inclined to agree with the judges who selected the charming original, Miss Jean Dryer, as the "perfect health girl." Miss Dryer, a nurse at the Illinois Research Hospital, Chicago, was chosen for her beauty and posture as well as her ideal proportions. The contest was sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

BOW GRACEFULLY TO CHARM SNAKE

At least that was the advice today from Dr. Walter Mosauer, University of California zoologist.

Davies Explains Milk Situation

Says Action Was Proposed
To Expedite Inspections
Under Act Of Assembly

ORDINANCE NOW DEAD DAVIES SAYS

In discussing the report of the meeting held by dairymen of the local district, in the court house, Saturday, when stirring addresses were made condemning a proposed "dairy inspector" ordinance for the city of New Castle, D. O. Davies, Director of Public Safety has the following statement:

"If the gentlemen so wrathfully stirred would have taken the trouble to investigate first, they would have been surprised to discover there was nothing to become excited over. In the first place, it was never intended and would not have created any additional inspection of dairies or farms other than now exists according to the Act of Assembly. The original purpose was simply to comply with a request from a state official that we pass an ordinance similar to the one adopted by Williamsport and other cities of the state conforming with the aforesaid Act.

Met State Official
"Therefore, if we had adopted the proposed ordinance, it would not have made any difference to those being examined by the present approved inspectors, because the act says explicitly, that the inspection may be made by any person approved by the state authorities as capable and competent to do so. We have had a few complaints from some that they could not have the inspection made when they desired it, and our sole intention was to speed up the inspections when requested and not to create a job as charged.

"Furthermore, the Mayor and members of council met with the state representatives on last Thursday, December 16, and discussed the question fully, and came to the conclusion that such an ordinance was not necessary, so the said ordinance is now as good as dead.

"I admire the alertness of the local dairymen in the interest of their livelihood and Heaven knows, they need to be alert and watch for all the acts of regulation which come out of our state capital.

"I can assure the dairymen that there is nothing further from my mind, or any other city official, than to create anything that will add to the burdens which they now have to bear.

"So it behooves all of us to investigate before we jump at hasty conclusions. The city officials are always on the job, willing and pleased at all times to give any information which they have in their power to give."

D. O. DAVIES,
Director of Public Safety.

New Navy Cruiser Ready for Trials

Sleek as a greyhound, but every line bespeaking the smooth power of her, the new U. S. Navy cruiser Portland is shown as she left the drydock at Charlestown, Mass., Navy Yard, for the pier where she will berth until early January. The new battle wagon will then be taken off the coast of Rockland, Me., for her first official trial runs. The cruiser was ordered by the Navy Department in 1929.

This is an air view of the state penitentiary near Columbia, S. SANTA CLAUS' TOYS MORE FASCINATING THIS YEAR.

Santa Claus' helpers have improved on their toys this year. (1) a German doll with real hair; (2) life-like baby doll in her arms; (3) like dolls play a game of soccer; (4) toy automobiles on a moving platform just as in large automobile plants; (5) two dolls all dressed up for a party. The dolls shown here are from Leipzig, Germany. Many like them are made in U. S.

As Japan Hit Lytton Report

Yosuke Matsuoka, Japan's representative at the League of Nations, is shown as he addressed the special assembly called at Geneva to consider the findings of the Lytton Report on the Manchurian situation. Matsuoka expressed his country's flat contradiction of the report, which placed the blame for the Manchurian invasion on Japan, adding that the invasion was not in self-defense as Japan had claimed.

Santa Caught on the Job

What would Christmas be without a Santa Claus? Just like stewed rhubarb without sugar, say we all. That's what Lou Pearl, well-known A. A. U. racing official thought also, so he donned his facial spinach and crimson robes and here he is playing Kris Kringle for the crippled kiddies in St. Edmund's Home, Philadelphia. Little Thomas Nichols, one of the patients, is receiving his gifts from the welcome visitor at the annual Christmas party.

Stance, Not Lance

This British golfer, garbed as a knight of old, is more concerned with his stance than with his lance. On a wager, this fellow played a round of golf over the links at Tintagel, Cornwall.

Asks Santa for Sound Limbs

Eight times in her five years of life, the legs of little Betty Marks have been broken, owing, the doctors say, to lack of calcium in her bones. As a result Betty has spent her last three Christmases in bed. She is now in the Boston Hospital facing her fourth toy-time, a patient patient. She envies her dolly's sound limbs and wishes that Santa would bring her a leg that will not break so easily.

Chain Gang Fugitive Caught

Robert Elliot Burns (seated), fugitive from a Georgia chain gang, who put his experiences into a book and later into a movie, is shown in custody of a detective after his arrest in Newark, N. J. Convicted of a $4 holdup in Atlanta in 1922, Burns was sent to the chain gang, from which he escaped several months later. He was captured in Chicago in 1929 after his estranged wife had "tipped" the authorities, but escaped from the chain gang again at La Grange, Ga., in September, 1930.

Diamond Czar at Joint Conclave of Majors

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, czar of organized baseball, is shown with John A. Heydler (left), president of the National League, and William Harbridge, president of the American League, at a joint meeting of the two great diamond associations, held at New York, to plan for the season of 1933. The conference followed separate meetings of the leagues at which the question of players' salaries, the ethics of trading and the advisability of broadcasting games was discussed.

Survived Dramatic Escape from Siberia

A tragic story of the attempt of a group to escape from Soviet Siberia was disclosed when a small schooner was found on the beach at Yurimichigawa, Northern Japan, bearing three survivors of the ill-fated expedition and bodies of two men who died of exposure. Inset shows the three survivors who were too weak to tell a coherent story of their flight and resultant tragedy.

Nazi Chiefs in Conclave

Adolf Hitler, generalissimo of Germany's Nazi, or Fascist Party, is shown (left) with Captain Herman Goering, Fascist leader in the Reichstag, as they conferred following the appointment of General Kurt von Schleicher as German Chancellor, a job for which Hitler was at one time believed slated. Since von Schleicher's appointment, it is rumored, there has been steadily growing dissension in the Nazi ranks.

As Amy Took Hubby's Record

Here is Amy Johnson Mollison smiling triumphantly as she arrived at Capetown, South Africa, after her flight from London in four days, six hours and fifty-five minutes. The famous English girl flier broke the long standing record of her husband, Capt. J. A. Mollison, by ten and one half hours.

Held as Murder Suspect

Held on suspicion of having been implicated in the slaying of Captain Walter Wanderwell on the yacht Carma at Long Beach, Cal., William James "Curly" Guy, tentatively identified as the "man in grey," is shown as he was finger-printed at Long Beach police headquarters. Guy asserted as he was in the Los Angeles home of Edward De Larm, adventuring airman, at the time of the shooting, but members of the De Larm family offered conflicting stories to the police.

Ex-Presidents Held as Rebels

Following the discovery of a plot to overthrow the government of President Augustin P. Justo, of Argentina, two former presidents and hundreds of other political leaders have been seized and thrown into prison at Buenos Aires. The jailed ex-presidents are Hipolito Yrigoyen (left), who ruled from 1916 to 1922 and from 1928 to 1930, and Marcelo T. de Alvear (right), who was President from 1922 to 1928. The plot was revealed by the accidental explosion of a bomb.

His recommendations included a careful check on all stolen automobiles, that police looking for bandits fleeing in autos be supported by riflemen, and that municipal police arrange a plan of defense with banks.

Union High Proves Tartar For Locals

New Castle High Quintet Flashes Last Quarter Attack To Upset Union

Uram, Teplica, Kominic And Schaas Best Bets In Fast Game Tuesday

New Castle High School basketball team ran into a tartar in Union High last night at George Washington High gym and was fortunate to eke out a 25 to 22 victory. The game was played before only a small crowd of spectators.

The Bridenbaugh quintet jumped into the lead at the very outset of the game with Uram and Kominic scoring field goals. The score was at the end of the first period was 8 to 5 with New Castle in the lead. Battley relieved Teplica at forward as the first period drew to a close. Monico, Morrison and Schaas scored for the Union team. Ridley sank one for New Castle just as the quarter was over.

Union Ties Score. Sniezek was put in the Union lineup by Coach Boyd at the start of the second period, relieving Monico at guard, and Union seemed to click better. It was not long until Union crept into a tie with New Castle and when Phillips sank a foul and Schaas shot one through the hoops the Union team took the lead at 11 to 10. The end of the second period found New Castle and Union deadlocked at 13-13. Teplica was sent back in for Battley near the close of the period. Reiber's lone basket of the game just as the half ended tied up the count. Union looked mighty good in this period, with Sniezek, Phillips, Schaas and Boran doing the scoring. For New Castle, Uram, Reiber and Kominic did the scoring.

New Castle Outplayed. Union really outplayed New Castle in the second period, scoring eight points to five for the New Castle team, just reversing the order of things for the first period. Union kept up their good work in the third period by taking the lead when Morrison caged a foul try. Teplica scored for New Castle and the game turned into a ding-dong battle. Union had the lead at 21 to 17 as the third period closed with Boran, Phillips and Morrison the leading scorers for Union, and Teplica and Ridley doing what little scoring New Castle accomplished.

Fred Shelloog went in for Ridley at center for New Castle at the start of the fourth and final period, and New Castle seemed to get new vigor. Ridley played a fine game, caging two field goals.

Lead Changes. Kominic dropped a couple of fouls at the start of the fourth quarter and New Castle soon tied the score when Uram caged one from the side of the floor. With four minutes to go New Castle led 23 to 21. In the final four minutes Phillips made Union's only point of the quarter on a foul. Sniezek relieved Boran at forward for Union. With the gun ready to boom for the end of the game John Teplica let the ball fly at the basket and it fell through.

Union had a scrappy, hard fighting team and they made New Castle step right along at a fast pace. New Castle looked better than they did against Pittsburgh South, but there is still room for improvement. Ridley filled the bill nicely at center. The foul shooting of both teams was not classed as good.

New Castle's next game is with Westinghouse high of Pittsburgh at New Castle on December 27. Union's next encounter will be at East Brook high on January 5.

The summary:
New Castle 25
Union 22
Uram F Boran

Anderson Signs With Notre Dame For Next Season

Notre Dame Officials Extend Contract To Anderson In Mid-Season

JIMMY PHELAN MAY COME EAST

By DAVIS J. WALSH International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—It may interest those who have been so unselfish and broad minded about firing heartily "Hunk" Anderson they haven't even bothered the Notre Dame people with the details that the new head coach of football at Notre Dame for 1933 will be and is a man by the name of Heartley "Hunk" Anderson. It may be of further interest that, while volunteer negotiating with outside parties has been going forward apace and with gusto, the job has been Anderson's the whole time.

Perhaps it should be brought out, too, that the formal signing of the one-year contract, covering the 1933 season, took place at a time when the 1932 season looked like something the cat forgot and Mr. Anderson's professional career apparently wasn't worth the change out of a nickel. It took place less than three days after the Pitt disaster, a nice gesture of confidence and reassurance by the Notre Dame people. So much for what I know to be true.

Phelan Mentioned. On the other hand, I have been given some reason to suspect that Jimmy Phelan, headed east from the University of Washington with a fountain pen and an open mind, won't sign anywhere until he talks to Fordham. He may stop off at Chicago to talk about Stagg's job, as alleged, although personally I'll believe that when I see it done, he may confer with others in the mid-west.

But the most definite and, to him, the most important engagement in his book is a talk with Fordham officials. As for Mr. Anderson, it seems that he not only received re-appointment at a time when enthusiasm for Mr. Anderson himself was not very general but he also, it seems, came into complete control for the first time. Up until then, I am told, Jesse Harper, the athletic director and former coach, had been lending a helpful though not unwelcome hand. But, with the Pitt defeat, they mutually decided that, if Mr. Anderson had to take all of the responsibility, it was no more than justice that he take all of the authority and it was so ordered.

Pitt Panthers Nearing Tucson

Coach Sutherland Will Not Build Special Offense To Use In Coast Game

(International News Service) ON BOARD PITTSBURGH SPECIAL ENROUTE TO PASADENA, Dec. 21.—Pitt's Golden Panthers awoke somewhere in Western Texas this morning, facing the prospect of another long day spent in train riding. They are being hustled by special train to Tucson where real practice in preparation for their Rose Bowl game with Southern California will be held starting tomorrow.

The day's stop in Dallas and the extended if somewhat limited practice at Southern Methodists field put the players in good shape to stand the last single day's hop and all are looking forward to the arrival in Tucson.

Coach Sutherland intimated after the Dallas workout that he would make no attempt to build a special offense for U. S. C. but will rely on an improved defense and long distance punting of his quarterback to make a good showing in Pitt's third Rose Bowl test.

The Panthers will lay over in El Paso for one hour about noon.

Lefty Grove Is Most Impressive Hurler In Majors

Statistical Department Sends Grove Christmas Card And Glad Tidings

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Robert Moses Grove, who does everything left handed except think with men on bases, received a Christmas card from the American League statistical department last night which told him something which he undoubtedly already suspected, namely and to wit: that he had compiled the most impressive record of any hurler in the circuit.

It is hardly likely Robert Moses let out an amazed "who, me?" but the fans who think of the value of a pitcher in terms of games won and lost are no doubt a bit puzzled at the selection. Robert Moses won 25 games last season while laboring in the vineyards of Connie Mack, but he lost 10 contests. On a rating depending entirely on a lost and won basis he finished but fifth in the league. But his earned run average of 2.84 runs per nine inning game gave him the leadership over Charley Ruffing of the Yanks.

Ruffing the Red finished with an average of 3.10 runs per game but the husky Yankee right hander came up with 190 strikeouts, two more than that earned by Grove.

Rally Is Shown

Has Some Effect
On Market

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The stock market showed rallying tendencies today, aided by the better action of U. S. Steel preferred and the increase in power production for the week. The recovery failed to go far, however, the failure of wheat to respond to the bullish government crop report putting a damper on speculative operations for the rise.

Selling pressure lifted on the steels and they were able to show rallying tendencies. The market was not free of weakness, however, the tobacco further pressure, especially American Tobacco B.

Bonds were generally steady though railroad obligations were hesitant. Commodities were easy. Sterling continued the recovery movement which started about 10 days ago.

Rail stocks were irregular, N. Y. Central was under pressure while Union Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio tended higher.

News from industry was mixed. The power gain was offset by a further dip in steel operations and the continuation of the customary year-end decline in railroad traffic. The Chicago rail wage conference were still deadlocked.

Trading was quiet and traders were inclined to mark time pending the outcome of the vote in the House of Representatives on the beer bill.

Ellwood Hi Wins
Third Straight

Blank Monaca 16-13 In A Thrilling Intersectional Contest Tuesday

THREE PERIODS OF
GAME DEADLOCKED

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 21.—Coach "Gandy" Benedict's Ellwood high passers are well on the road to success after their third straight victory at Lincoln gym last night when they nosed out Monaca high school 16-13 in a thrilling intersectional contest.

The game was a fine exhibition of defensive skill on part of the Tubers. The visitors obtained most of their score from the foul line, being held to only two baskets from the court.

Ellwood fans indeed got a shock early in the third quarter when "Spungo" Vandrello and Dave Bolotin, varsity guard and forward respectively, were ejected from the fray via the four personal foul rule, with the score being deadlocked at the time. But these two gaps were filled in a remarkable manner by Ronald Clever and Bob Johnson.

The gymnasium represented a mad house as the fourth quarter got underway with the score being deadlocked at 12 all. Both teams tried desperately to score and to keep the other from doing likewise. The visitors attempted many long shots. When the period was well underway Bob Johnson came to the fore and severed the tie with a nice shot from the foul line. Not long afterward Ray Latiano sent the oval through the hoops on a clever play and pass from Barnes. The Monaca passers advanced within three points of Ellwood's lead when Elmer accounted for a free throw. With three and a half minutes left to play the locals resorted to "freezing the ball" tactics and prevented any further scores for the evening. Their ability in this procedure received much commendation.

Vongray, Monaca's flashy forward was the high scorer for the evening with one field goal and 7 out of 8 fouls. Bolotin and Latiano of Ellwood were tied for second place with two field goals and a foul apiece. Barco got the only other basket for the visitors. For the locals Barnes, Bunney, and Johnson scored from the court.

Coach Benedict will take his cagers to Zelenople Friday evening where they are scheduled for a return contest with Coach Tommy Sager's basketbears.

Pleasing Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 21.—Miss Aline Anderson was a pleasing hostess to the members of the 29-30 club last night at her home on Beechwood Boulevard.

An enjoyable evening was held around two tables of bridge in the midst of holiday colors. Miss Mary Martin and Miss Genevieve Curry received the high score awards at the close of the games. At a later hour the hostess assisted by her sister Evelyn and Miss Kathleen Houk served delightful refreshments as a closing event of the evening.

Miss Margaret Battersby will entertain the club in two weeks at her home on First avenue.

ATTACKED BY DEER
ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 21.—What might have resulted in a serious accident or fatality occurred during the last day of the deer hunting season when Paul Gongloware of Perry township was attacked by a large enraged deer. Mr. Gongloware was hunting along the creek hills of the Slippery Rock at a point known as Hell's Hollow when he sighted a buck and shot it but failed to strike a vital point. Sensing his failure of bringing down the buck he pursued the animal which suddenly turned and attacked the hunter who had not had time to reload his gun with ammunition and only by his valiant efforts of striking the animal with the stock of his gun was he able to subdue and finally kill the deer.

Auto Dealers Hear Speakers

Must Re-organize And Get Into After-Market, Local Auto Dealers Told

PITTSBURGH MEN MAKE ADDRESSES

One of the big mistakes the automobile dealers has made in the past has been the neglect of his service department, members of the New Castle Auto Dealers Association were told by F. J. Frisz of Pittsburgh, at a meeting held last evening, preceded by a dinner at 23 East North street.

In the absence of President J. R. Rick, who is confined to his home by illness, Ray F. Hall, secretary of the association presided and introduced the speaker.

Mr. Frisz told the auto dealers that if they did not go after the business of the after-market, that is the servicing of the automobile after it has been sold, they were going to have a hard time keeping their heads above water until the depression ends.

He explained how Swift and Company, one of the large meat packing concerns in the country found itself in much the same position the car dealer finds himself in today.

After the company had purchased a steer in Iowa and butchered it and sold the meat, they found they had just broke even. After investigating, they found that they could dispose of the hide, hair, hoofs, horn, etc., at a little profit and eventually were able to make a profit of one-eighth of a cent per pound of meat sold.

He told the members of the association they must reorganize their business, and go into the after-market on a much larger scale than they had done before if they expected to stay in business.

F. E. Tessmer, spoke briefly along the same line, after which there was a general discussion of problems facing the car dealer.

Christian Church Will Give Program On Thursday Night

"The Christmas Star" To Be Presented; All Churches Plan Activities

This is an active week in the churches. Numerous parties, dinners and entertainments have been scheduled.

The most outstanding event of Thursday will be the Christmas entertainment in the evening at the Madison Avenue Christian church. It will be "The Christmas Star", a play in three acts, and promises to be unusually interesting. There is no charge for admittance—just an evening designed for the entertainment of the local people.

Friday night brings the tureen dinner and Christmas program of the Presbyterian church.

All the churches will have elaborate Christmas Sunday programs.

THREE-CHURCH SERVICE

Congregations of the Madison Avenue Christian, Mahoning Methodist and Mahoningtown Presbyterian churches will unite in a prayer meeting tonight in the Presbyterian church.

The service will commence at 7:45 o'clock and will be in charge of the Methodist pastor, Rev. W. H. Downing. These union services are conducted once a month.

NO SEWING NOW

There will be no sewing group meeting at the Mahoning school annex this afternoon nor any afternoon until after New Years. The sewing, which has been done by a group of local mothers and volunteer workers, has been conducted every day since last September.

CINDERS AT CORNERS

Cinders were spread over the icy spots at various downtown corners in Mahoningtown Tuesday by employees of the street department. The attention given the spots has proved helpful to motorists.

GRAND AUXILIARY

The Grand International Auxiliary of the Brotherhood and Locomotive Engineers will have a meeting Thursday afternoon in the City building.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

We won't mention any names on this one, even though it is good enough to spill. It concerns a contractor in a certain line who ordered a lot of supplies, call them any kind of supplies if you wish plumbing for example.

He drove the truck load to his home intending to store the supplies in his garage. On the trip in, the truck went through the door beautifully, the top just clearing by a gnat's whisker. It was a heavy load, of heavy pieces, and took plenty of time and energy to unload.

As the last piece was unloaded he breathed a sigh of relief and started to back the truck out of the garage. But the truck wouldn't back worth a nickel. The weight of the load taken off the springs had raised the height of the truck several inches and the door wasn't high enough to permit the truck's passage.

Business then of loading the truck up again, but by this time the springs had stretched a bit and the truck still couldn't get through. He had visions of tearing down the garage to get the truck out, or saving a chunk out of the front. Then he called in a flock of the neighbors and their added weight put the truck low enough to get it through.

Another unloading process and the business of carrying the supplies into the garage. Now he is thinking of getting some rubber doors or articulated siding for the garage so he can get in and unload and get out.

The Shenango Township football heroes got their made of praise last night and also got a bang up chicken dinner. And what a dinner. Those old fashioned flaky biscuits that tucked away nicely, some country chicken floating in a lagoon of gravy and then the odds and ends like home made raspberry jam, and pickles, and this and that. Topped off with a wedge of apple pie about the size of a triangle in a brass band.

A nice party if you ask me, and a discovery made. A football coach who is an orator. Coach Fredericks of the Bessemer team was one of the speakers and he tossed around adjectives and participles as easily as he can toss a forward pass.

One more football banquet, that of the New Castle team, and the football season will be finally tucked into bed. Each year sees it hanging on just a little more, like a small boy who doesn't want to go to bed, and this year it hangs on until Christmas.

And as far as this column is concerned it would be perfectly all right if football started on September 1 and went on through until May 1. We're a good game spectator and can we take it.

Dropped around for a few minutes to see the last few whirls of the New Castle-Union High School basketball game last night and those lads from Union township threw a first class scare into New Castle. One long heave in the closing seconds of the game looked as though it might be a cager for Union, all which would have been a winner, had it gone down.

Fugitive Suicide

Letters To The News

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer

To The Taxpayer

We, the undersigned city firemen, representing the paid city firemen of New Castle, believe that the taxpayers of this city know only a few of the facts concerning the paid firemen of our city.

Your firemen are on the job 12 hours a day, seven days a week, or 4,380 hours per year, not counting the hours they may put in extra or on second alarm fires, for which they receive no extra pay. Therefore, 4,380 hours divided into the salary rate of $135 per month, amounts to 36 1/2 cents per hour.

This, we learn from the Taxpayer's committee on salaries paid, is from 3 1/2 to 17 1/2 cents per hour less than paid for laborers of the city, which they list at from 40 cents to 54 cents per hour, thus making the city firemen the lowest paid employees in the city departments.

The clothes a city fireman has to wear for street and night use, cost him more than the clothes he wears everyday for good. His insurance carries a high premium. We have taken a cut of $180 per year and are now having taken from wages, $16.20 for the Mayor's Relief fund. We have never yet failed to donate to any good cause of the city, and we believe the taxpayers will agree with us that at 36 1/2 cents per hour, we are not overpaid for the hazardous work we are called upon to do.

Thanking you for your support in this matter.

HUGH D. HORTON.

EARL DART.

JOS. ZEIGLER.

Rather than return to Colorado Springs, Colo., to face charges of embezzling $1,000,000, Walter Clyde Davis (above) hanged himself in a New York police station cell shortly after his arrest as a fugitive. Davis disappeared last June when a shortage of a million dollars was found in the accounts of the Colorado Springs City Savings Association of which he was president.
